Notes for use

Chapter 1 illustrates examples of the most important citation patterns for the reference list (examples for journal articles, books/monographs, and contributions to edited volumes).

Chapter 2 provides an overview of how to cite sources correctly in the reference list and distinguishes between academic and non-academic sources.

Chapter 3 illustrates correct citation in the main text.

This citation guide is based on: American Psychological Association. (2020). Publication manual of the American Psychological Association: The official guide to APA style (Seventh edition). American Psychological Association. https://permalink.obvsg.at/fww/AC15467643

Do you use reference management software such as Citavi or Zotero?
Then please select the following citation style: American Psychological Association 7th ed. (English)

If you are writing a legal paper, you can use the chapter 11 in?

Adding source links in the list of references

At FHWien der WKW, transparent and verifiable scientific methodology is a prerequisite for all scientific and academic texts. Thus, every source has to include a link that either leads directly to the source or at least to its bibliographic record. This applies to both digital and printed resources.

Why are links necessary?

- Traceability
  Readers can directly access and verify sources.
- Transparency & Integrity
  Links clearly indicate the source of information. This underscores an academically sound and honest approach.
- Quality assurance
  Lecturers and supervisors can check sources more easily for reliability and confirmation of your scientific practice.
- Convenience & Efficiency
  Sources are accessible with a single click, without any searching. This is practical if you are using another work as a starting point for your research and if you are working with a reference management program (automatic source recognition).
- Digital traceability
  DOI/permalinks ensure long-term access to texts and enable unambiguous identification of the source.
- Learning aid for you!
  The links in this citation guide provide you with practical examples of what different types of sources (e.g., monograph/book, journal article, edited volume, etc.) can look like.

Which link should I include in the list of references? For digital resources (e.g., e-books, online articles, statistics, standards),either use a DOI (Digital Object Identifier) or, if not available, the permalink or URL of the source.

Printed resources (e.g. books): DOI (Digital Object Identifier). Many printed books are also available online and have a DOI. In this case, the DOI of the e-book can be provided.

Example

Springer, R. (2004). Wettbewerbsfähigkeit durch Innovation: erfolgreiches Management organisatorischer Veränderungen. Springer. https://doi.org/10.1007/978-3-642-17132-1

Permalink

If no DOI is available, search for the book in an online catalogue and use the permalink to the record. The catalogue does not have to be from FHWien der WKW.

Example

Flick, U. (2014). The SAGE handbook of qualitative data analysis. Sage. https://permalink.obvsg.at/fww/AC10919837

Link to the publisher's website: If neither a DOI nor a permalink is available, the link to the publisher's website may be used exceptionally.

Example

Lunzer, J. M. & Lederer, A. (2025). KI. Recht. Einfach. Worauf Sie bei der Nutzung von ChatGPT & Co rechtlich achten müssen. Linde. https://shop.lindeverlag.at/buch/ki-recht-einfach-20219

How do I handle sources that are not available online? If no online data is available for a printed resource, you should be able to provide a copy of the resource if requested by your supervisor or your study programme.

Important: Do not use temporary links! Do not use search links from catalogues, databases, or search engines (URLs directly from your browser's address bar). These links may be temporary and may not reliably lead to the source later.

Instead, use the permalink or stable link to the record as provided by the respective online catalogue or database. You can find information about this in the help pages of the respective platform.

This table shows the difference between temporary links from the address bar and stable permalinks from online catalogues or databases:

Description	Example	Suitable for the list of references
DOI / Digital Object Identifier	https://doi.org/10.1007/978-3-642-17132-1	✅ Yes, preferably with digital resources.
Direct link to the dataset (permalink)	https://permalink.obvsg.at/fww/AC16775377	✅ Yes, permanently and definitely.
Link to the book on the publisher's website	https://shop.lindeverlag.at/buch/ki-recht-einfach-20219	⚠️ Use only if neither permalink nor DOI is available.

Link from the address bar (URL bar) / temporary link	https://search-fww.obvsg.at/primo-explore/fulldisplay?docid=FWW_alma212642..... or https://research.ebsco.com/c/uuutfc/search/details/oso3gocybn/details?db=bsu%2Cbwh%2C ...	❌ No, not permanently available.

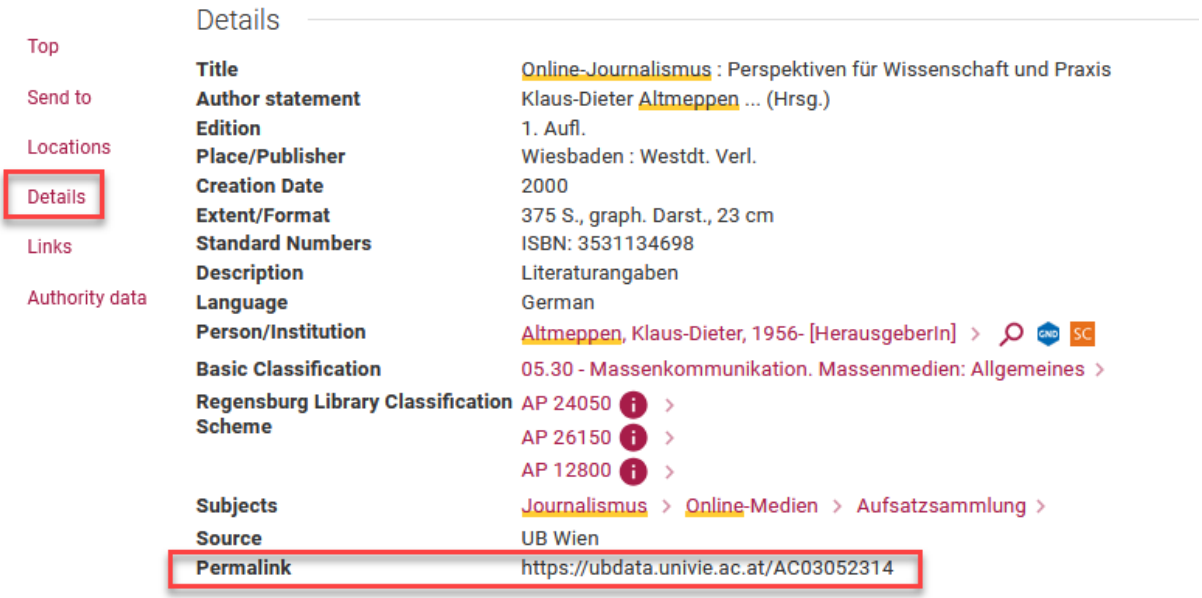

Note:
Temporary links are often long, contain session information and may not reliably lead back to the source later. Therefore, always use DOI links or permalinks if available.

Where can I find the permalink in the online catalogue? Click on the title of the work and then on Details. In the Details section, you will find the permalink to the work under "Link to record" or "Permalink".

Example: Online catalogue UB Wien

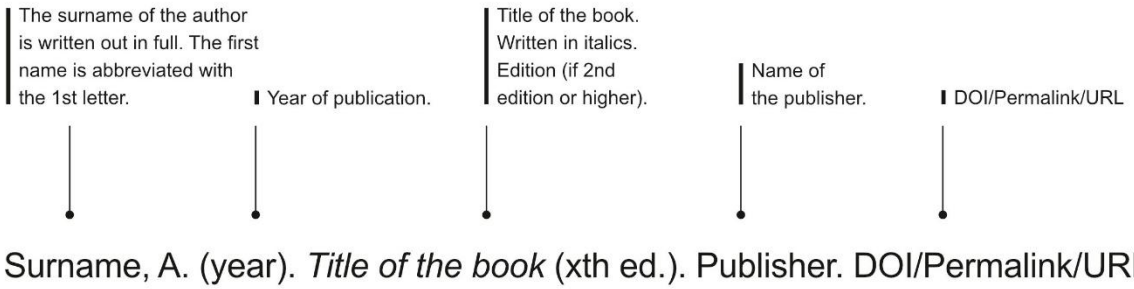

1 Core elements for the list of references (in graphics)

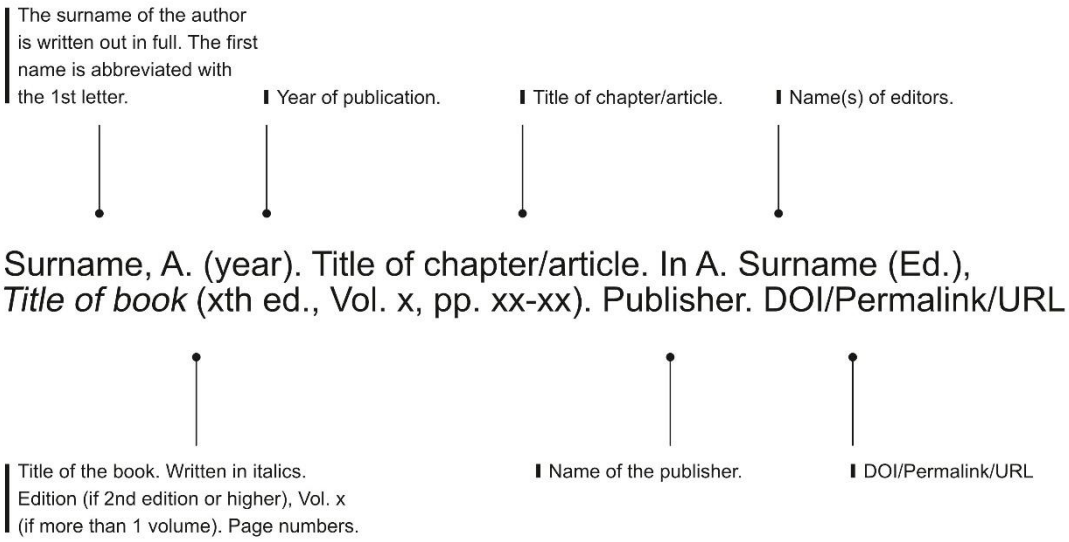

1.1 Journal article

1.2 Book/monograph

1.3 Chapter of an edited book

2 Sources in the list of references

2.1 Scientific sources

2.1.1 Journal article

One author

Surname, A. (year). Title of article. Title of Journal, Volume(Issue), page–page. DOI/Permalink/URL

Example

Farjoun, M. (2010). Beyond dualism. Stability and change as a duality. Academy of Management Review, 35(2), 202–225. https://doi.org/10.5465/amr.35.2.zok202

In-text citation: (Farjoun, 2010, pp. 202–203)

2.1.2 Book/monograph

One author

Surname, A. (year). Title of the book (xth ed., from the second edition onwards, vol. x, if more than 1 volume). Publisher. DOI/URL

Example

Habermas, J. (2011). Theorie kommunikativen Handelns. Handlungsrationalität und gesellschaftliche Rationalisierung (11th ed., vol.1). Suhrkamp. https://ubdata.univie.ac.at/AC10672482

In-text citation: (Habermas, 2011, p. 20)

2.1.3 Edited book

Article/Contribution/Chapter in an edited book

Two Authors

Surname, A. & Surname, B. (year). Title of article/chapter. In A. Surname (Ed.), Edited book title (xth ed., from the second edition onwards, vol. x, if more than 1 volume, pp. xx–xx). Publisher. DOI/Permalink/URL

Example

Eisenegger, M. & Imhof, K. (2009). Funktionale, soziale und expressive Reputation. Grundzüge einer Reputationstheorie. In U. Röttger (Ed.), Theorien der Public Relations. Grundlagen und Perspektiven der PR-Forschung (2nd ed., pp. 243–264). Springer VS. https://link.springer.com/chapter/10.1007/978-3-531-91360-5_13

In-text citation: (Eisenegger & Imhof, 2009, p. 243)

Edited book cited as complete book

If the entire book instead of a single article, essay or chapter from the edited book is cited, the following scheme applies:

Two editors

Surname, A. B. & Surname, C. D. (Eds.). (year). Edited book title (xth ed., from the second edition onwards, vol. x, if more than 1 volume). Publisher. DOI/Permalink/URL

Example

Denzin, N. K. & Lincoln, Y. S. (Eds.). (2018). The SAGE handbook of qualitative research (5th ed.). Sage. https://ubdata.univie.ac.at/AC13728446

In-text citation: (Denzin & Lincoln, 2018, pp. 15–16)

2.1.4 Examples with two or more authors/editors

Two authors, journal article as an example

Surname, A. & Surname, B. C. (year). Title of article. Title of Journal, Volume(Issue), page–page. DOI

Example

Diefenbach, T. & Sillince, J. A. (2011). Formal and informal hierarchy in different types of organization. Organization Studies, 32(11), 1515–1537. https://doi.org/10.1177/0170840611421254

In-text citation: (Diefenbach & Sillince, 2011, p. 1520)

Up to 6 authors, journal article as an example

Surname, A., Surname, B. & Surname, C. (year). Title of article. Title of Journal, Volume(Issue), page–page. DOI

Example

Scherer, A. G., Palazzo, G. & Seidl, D. (2013). Managing legitimacy in complex and heterogeneous environments. Sustainable development in a globalized world. Journal of Management Studies, 50(2), 259–284. https://doi.org/10.1111/joms.12014

In-text citation: (Scherer et al., 2013, pp. 270–271)

More than 6 authors, journal article as an example

Surname, A., Surname, B., Surname, C., Surname. D., Surname, E. & Surname, F. et al. (year). Title of article. Title of Journal, Volume(Issue), page–page. DOI

Example

Heshka, S., Anderson, J. W., Atkinson, R. L., Greenway, F. L., Hill, J. O. & Phinney, S. D. et al. (2003). Weight loss with self-help compared with a structured commercial program. A randomized trial. JAMA, 289(14), 1792–1798. https://doi.org/10.1001/jama.289.14.1792

In-text citation: (Heshka et al., 2003, pp. 1792–1793)

Multiple editors, edited book as an example

Surname, A. (year). Title of article/chapter. In A. Surname, B. Surname & C. Surname (Eds.), Edited book title (xth ed., from the second edition onwards, vol. x, if more than 1 volume, pp. xx–xx). Publisher. DOI/Permalink/URL

Example

3 In-text references

3.1 Direct quotations of sources

In-text quotation under 40 words is incorporated in the text, with quotation marks, punctuation outside the final parenthesis:

“Direct quote under 40 words“ (Surname, year, p. xx).

Block quotation: 40 and more words, start a new line and indent a block, no quotation marks, parenthesis after full stop:

Block quotation of 40 and more words. (Surname, year, p. xx)

Quotation marks in a direct quotation: use single marks:

“Direct quote contains ‘quotation marks‘ and continues“ (Surname, year, p.xx).

Clerical error or peculiarity in original quote: indicated by “sic” in Italics and brackets:

“The komputer [sic] is …“ (Surname, year, p. xx).

Omitting material from the original source: 3 ellipsis points in case of less than a sentence, 4 in case of more than a sentence, in brackets:

“Direct quote […] continues after omission“ (Surname, year, p. xx).

Inserting text in direct quotation: e.g. annotations, explanations, clarifications, in brackets:

“Direct quote [insert] continues after insert“ (Surname, year, p. xx).

Emphasis in direct quote: in Italics and with indication, in brackets:

“Direct quote contains emphasis [emphasis added by author]” (Surname, year, p. xx).

Translation of direct quote: indicate (your own or an official) translation after reference:

“Direct quote is translated from other language than English“ (Surname, year, p. xx; translation by First name Surname)

3.2 Phrasing aids

When citing sources in-text, indication of name and year are necessary.

Examples

- (Surname, year, p. xx)
- Surname (year, p. xx) pleads for …
- Surname already pointed out in 2011 ...
- Group or institution without author: (Daimler, year, p. xx)
- Group or institution with abbreviation mentioned for first time: (World Health Organization [WHO], year, p. xx)
- Group or institution with abbreviation in subsequent citation: (WHO, year, p. xx)

Examples with two authors

- (Surname1 & Surname2, year, p. xx)
- Surname1 & Surname2 (year, p. xx) claim …

Examples with three to six authors, initial mention

- (Surname1, Surname2, Surname3, Surname4 & Surname5, year, p. xx)
- Surname1, Surname2, Surname3, Surname4 & Surname5 (year, p. xx) claim …

Example with more than six authors:

- Surname1, Surname2, Surname3, Surname4, Surname5, Surname6 et. al. (year, p. xx) claim …
- (Surname1 et al., year, p. xx)

3.3 Reference to pages

The page references can contain a reference to one page, two or more consecutive pages, or a reference to non-consecutive pages:

- (Surname, year, p. 15)
- (Surname, year, pp. 15–16)
- (Surname, year, pp. 65, 67)

Reference without page format e.g. e-books or websites

indicate the most precise structure (chapter, section, paragraph, table, figure) Example: (Surname, year, chap. xx, sect. xx, para. xx, tab. xx, fig. xx)

3.4 List of sources

Several references by one author with different publication years ascending publication years

(Surname, 2002, p. xx, 2010, p. xx) or as a complete publication (Surname, 2002, 2010)

Several references by one author from the same year of publication

(Surname1, 2007a, p. xx, 2007b, p. xx)
(Surname1, 2007a, b)

Several references by different authors in alphabetic order

(Adams, 2003, p. xx; Baca, 2004, p. xx; Burton & Cohen, 2002, p. xx)

Several references by different authors with the same surname indicate first name initials

A. Schmidt (2004, p. xx) claims this …
C. Schmidt (2016, p. xx) claims that …

Several references by the same first author but different co-authors, same year of publication indicate co-authors until difference between references is obvious

(Schmidt, Kent et al., 2006; Schmidt, Holt et al., 2006)

3.5 Secondary source

Cite original reference as cited in a secondary citation; only secondary reference is named in reference list

(Surname Original, year, p. xx as cited in Surname Secondary, year, p. xx)

3.6 Interviews for research purposes

Interviews for research purposes

Interview with non-anonymised interview person (IP) for research purposes; transcript indicated pages and lines

(Surname of IP, year, p. xx, l. xx)

Interview with anonymised interview person (IP) for research purposes; transcript indicated pages and lines

(IPxx, year, p. xx, l. xx)
